ICLQ Annual Lecture 2015

'Determining the Seat of an International Arbitration: Party Autonomy and the Interpretation of Arbitration Agreements'

The 2015 Annual ICLQ Lecture this year will be given by Professor Jonathan Hill of the University of Bristol, on the subject 'Determining the Seat of an International Arbitration: Party Autonomy and the Interpretation of Arbitration Agreements', based on his article published in the ICLQ in July 2014.

The event will also provide the opportunity to present the 2014 Young Scholar with their award of £250 worth of Cambridge University Press titles of their choice. This year the prize is awarded to Fernando Lusa Bordin of the University of Cambridge for his article 'Reflections of Customary International Law: The Authority of Codification Conventions and ILC Draft Articles in International Law'.

The lecture will be followed by a reception generously sponsored by Cambridge University Press, who publish the ICLQ.

Speaker
- Professor Jonathan Hill, University of Bristol

Chair
- Professor Malcolm Evans, Editor in Chief (Joint) of the International and Comparative Law Quarterly, University of Bristol

Event convened by Anna Riddell, Publications Editor, British Institute of International and Comparative Law (BIICL).

Registration

This event is free to attend, however advance registration is required.

Find out more and book online at www.biicl.org/iclq2015