ICLQ Annual Lecture 2016

'Foreign Fads Or Fashions? The Role Of Comparativism In Human Rights Law'

Tues 22 March 2016
17:30-19:30

Allen & Overy,
Bishops Square,
London E1 6AD

2 CPD hours

Sponsored by

The 2016 Annual ICLQ Lecture this year will be given by Professor Sandra Fredman of the University of Oxford, on the subject 'Foreign Fads Or Fashions? The Role Of Comparativism In Human Rights Law', based on her article published in the ICLQ in July 2015.

The event will also provide the opportunity to present the 2015 Young Scholar with their award of £250 worth of Cambridge University Press titles of their choice. This year the prize is awarded to Matthew Nicholson of the University of Southampton for his article 'The Political Unconscious of the English Foreign Act of State and Non-Justiciability Doctrine(s)' in the October 2015 issue.

The lecture is being hosted by Allen & Overy and will be followed by a reception generously sponsored by Cambridge University Press, who publish the ICLQ.
